GLOBALE KØNSSTUDIER

2018/2019

MODULETS INDHOLD, FORLØB OG PÆDAGOGIK

Objectives:

To provide students with knowledge about and insight into gender theories and how these can be used in analyses of inequalities within the field of development policy and international and transnational relations.

Content

The course will give an introduction to the area of 'gender and globalisation', in particular in the context of development and international relations, and will include discussions of specific cases and case studies in which gender and equality can be understood from local, regional and global perspectives (including the EU as a regional institution). Specific emphasis will be placed on the history of gender and equality policy within the field of development and international relations, on possibilities and limitations of international law and human rights, and on analyses of gender and equality policies in various contexts and parts of the world, which are relevant areas of research within development and international relations. The module will form the basis of further theoretical and practical work within the field in the project module of the semester,

KØNSPERSPEKTIV PÅ GLOBAL GOVERNANCE

2018/2019

MODULETS INDHOLD, FORLØB OG PÆDAGOGIK

Objectives:

This course aims to enhance students' knowledge of global governance and global democracy through the study of the role of social movements (social movement organisations/non-governmental organisations) and analysis of (international) institutions, (gender) policies and transnational activism.

Content

Students will be introduced to the aspects of gender in global governance and global democracy, and governance will be discussed from 'top-down', 'bottom-up' and transnational perspectives. Firstly, governance of gender inequalities at the transnational level will be analysed with a focus on international institutions and policies. On this basis, theories of (feminist) institutionalism and international and European legislation and policies will be analysed. These theories will underpin a critical discussion of the 'gendered infrastructure' and history of global relations in the context of the international organisations' specific agencies for gender relations such as The European Institute for Gender Equality (EIGE) and UN Women.

Secondly, focus will be on a critical discussion of the mobilisation of social movements in various parts of the world and on the interaction between the (global) civil society, international institutions, international law in the Global North and the Global South and the emerging powers/economies in Asia, Africa and Latin America. This will include theories on the aspects of gender in concepts such as citizenship, the global civil society, transnational solidarity and postcolonialism. The module will form the basis of further theoretical and practical work within the field in the project module of the semester,
